25 Most Dynamic Cinematographers on TV

by rodriaj1 created 03 Sep 2014 | last updated - 7 months ago

When you watch a TV series or movie, you're looking at the shots taken by a Cinematographer whose job is to serve and tell the story visually. The art of cinematography is closely related to photography, but includes more techniques like capture method (digital or film), composition (angle and depth of field for example), focal points, lighting, pans, tilts, zooms, dollies, trucking, and varying types of techniques with focus. This is significant enough, but of equal significance is knowing when to use a technique to best convey the story. This is a list of TV cinematographers that I think are quite skilled in their craft.
